The ISMA Season Pass may not be used for March Medicaid seminars.

The ISMA has a long history of providing education to physicians and medical office staff to help ensure success in practice management.

With more than 8,100 physician members, the ISMA knows the pressures of today's medical practice environment resulting from stagnant reimbursement, managed care hassles, and the uncertainties of pay-for-performance initiatives.

In other words, the ISMA understands physicians and their practices must continually do more with less!

The ISMA Seminar Season Pass is designed to help you manage the challenges of the health care marketplace with education and training – all for $600.

What is the Season Pass?

The Season Pass permits a practice to send staff members – one per session – to an unlimited number of ISMA seminars during one calendar year. The pass expires Dec. 31, 2011.

You mean it's transferable?

Yes, the Season Pass belongs to the physician practice, not one individual. That means your practice could send:

- A coder to Basic CPT in April and Intermediate CPT in May
- A biller to Medicare updates in December
- A practice manager to the annual compliance update in November
- A physician to E/M coding this summer

If you paid separately for staff members to attend these seminars, you would typically pay more than $1,100. With a Season Pass, you save $500.

How do I get one?

Visit www.ismanet.org/education or call the ISMA at (800) 257-4762. The Season Pass is only being made available to ISMA member physicians and their practices. Nonmembers and billing companies are not eligible for this offer.

The sooner you purchase a Season Pass, the sooner you begin educating and advancing skills while saving money.

How do I use it?

Certain restrictions apply

- The pass is good for one registration fee per ISMA seminar.
- You are still required to pre-register for seminars you want to attend.

Four ways to order:

1. MAIL completed form/payment to: ISMA, Attn: Seminars, PO Box 803, Indianapolis, IN 46206-0803.
