

ISDH weekly COVID-19 Provider Webcast resumes on Fridays

Beginning Friday, May 22, 2020, the Indiana State Department of Health (ISDH) again invites you to participate in a webcast for health care providers regarding the 2019 novel coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak. The webcast has moved to a new, more convenient platform available on any browser, so please read carefully the webcast details below. The webcast will be recorded and available for viewing at your convenience.

What: ISDH webcast briefing on 2019 novel coronavirus (COVID-19) to provide an update on Indiana response

Who: Dr. Lindsay Weaver, M.D, FACEP
ISDH Chief Medical Officer

When: Fridays at Noon (Eastern)

Important - Instructions have changed so please read below:

To view ISDH webcasts, please test your access to view streaming videos several days prior to the event. Please use the following link for the test and to view the webcast: <https://isdh.pividal.tv/>. The chat feature is not enabled so please email questions during the webcast to PublicAffairs@isdh.in.gov.

To test, simply “click” on any of the thumbnails. The video should play, but your network administrators may have restrictions that prevent you from watching streaming content. If you experience problems with accessibility, please contact your network administrator to request access. Also, please be aware that public Wi-Fi connectivity should be avoided given variable connection speeds and the risk of buffering problems.

At the appointed date and time, the webcast will be available via the Live Events option – highlighted below.

NOTE: The chat feature is not yet enabled. Please email questions during the live broadcast to PublicAffairs@isdh.in.gov.

Recording

Those who are unable to participate in the live webcast may view a recording at the same link as above – <https://isdh.pividal.tv/>. click on COVID-19 to view the recording as soon as it's available. (Works on any web browser, MAC or PC)

Kris Box, MD, FACOG

State Health Commissioner