PILOT PROJECT-Peds Grand Rounds

CONSIDERATIONS:

- Open to all St Vincent staff plus outside physicians interested in children.
- Expectation of 80-100 participants.
- Series to include outside speakers with variety of pediatric topics.
- We still want to “welcome” our participants by name.
- First activity held at the new Sim Center.

CME PROCESS GAPS IDENTIFIED WITH LARGE AUDIENCES

1. Not everyone would be a St Vincent employee.
2. Lack of legibility of names and/or signatures.
3. Time consideration due to audience volume to enter participants into the database.
4. Engagement of participants in the activity.

WHAT CME STEPS COULD BE IMPROVED?

Use modern technology

Make “sign in” user friendly

Streamline

CONNECT THE PIECES:

Technology meets “the sign in”

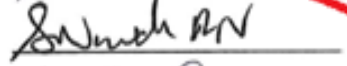

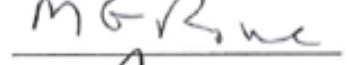

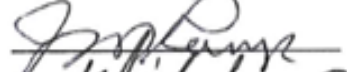

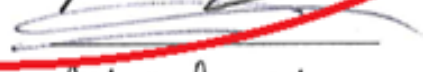

We ask for a printed name and signature.

We ask that the info is legible.

INCORPORATE THE SMART PHONE INTO A REAL LIFE APPLICATION

The average person checks their cell phone 80 times a day, 31% feel anxiety when separated from their phone and 60% feel some stress when it's out of reach.

LET'S TAKE IT FURTHER-

If we could use the phone for sign in:

Could we link the evaluation to registration info?

Could we provide the CME certificate on completion of the evaluation?

THE QR READER

THE IDEA

1. Create a sign in for a smart phone.
2. Capture the name and email address.
3. Send an activity evaluation link immediately.

REDCap, Research Electronic Data Capture, developed by Vanderbilt University is a data collection application for building and managing online surveys and the collection of information. It is research oriented, non commercial and HIPPA compliant.

REDCap is free to non-profit and government organizations. It was created in 2004 by a research physician at Vanderbilt University.

CHANGE TAKES TIME

We, in CME, are in the education business, so we must be the leaders of change.

MISSION OF CHANGE

- CME Office must take the lead.
- Be prepared for resistance.
- Know that technology and user capabilities of participants is a HUGE variable.
- Educate yourself in technology.

BOTTOM LINE

Stay strong in the Mission of Change.

THANK YOU!
